

Who would benefit from a Middle College High School?

- Students who feel disconnected from a traditional high school environment.
- Students who would thrive in a small school that offers extensive support from teachers and campus faculty.
- Learners who are ready to return to high school, need a different setting in which to recover credits, and graduate faster than at a traditional high school.
- Those for whom a better fit would be a more intimate environment that provides structure, stability, personalized support, and a mature, college-going culture.

What is a Middle College?

- Middle College High School (MCHS) is a high school that is located on a community college campus and accepts no more than 160 students.
- Our students have an opportunity to not only earn their high school diploma, but also earn college credit or workforce training through Houston Community College (HCC)!
- We serve young adults ages 14 - 24.
